

p1

EIP

Partner Darren Smyth launches The IP Alchemist blog

Following a six-month stint as a guest blogger on the highly respected blog, The IPKat, partner Darren Smyth has reignited his passion for writing and re-emerged in the blogosphere under the pseudonym The IP Alchemist.

Promising to blog a mixture of his work and social life, including patents and other IP, chemistry and science, as well as language, music and travel, Darren invites anyone interested to check out The IP Alchemist. All feedback is welcomed.