

p1

EIP

Making the switch from in-house to private practice

During his career in IP partner Matt Jones has held positions in both private practice law firms, and in-house corporate legal departments, before he joined EIP. In an article for Managing Intellectual Property Matt explains what it's like making the move in-house and then back again.